Information about product categories:

Categorisation as toy:

Tested as watertoys acc. to guideline 88/378/EWG (guidance no. 7) and acc. to standard EN 71.

Definition "watertoy": item either inflatable or non-inflatable, which is designed to carry the weight of a child and with whom children can play in plain water. Watertoys are being categorised as toys for children under the age of 3! Therefore the guideline 2005/84/EG regulating phthalates in toys complies to the toys by law. PAHs are not regulated by law, the testing and evaluation are carried out according to the specification which occur in the process of awarding the GS-mark (in this process watertoys are categorised as category 2). Watertoys must carry a CE-signet.

Categorisation as "floatable plastic seatings":

Tested as "floatable plastic seatings" (so called swim aids which are worn close to the body) acc. to guidance no. 2 and DIN EN 13138 -3. Furthermore, tests acc. to guideline 2005/84/EG regulating phthalates in toys have been carried out. These items are not categorised as toys. They have to be categorised as swimming aids and therefore have to meet the regulations acc. to the guideline for product safety. Normatively, they are regulated within DIN EN 13138-3. These items have to meet the specifications of DIN EN 13138-3 as well as EN 71 Teil 3. However the phthalates-guidance is not applicable by law, only in accordance to it. The reason therefore is that these items are not specified as "toys for babies" which purpose is to assist sleeping, relaxing feeding and sucking as well as to assist to care for hygiene for children. PAHs are not regulated by law, the testing and evaluation are carried out according to the specification which occur in the process of awarding the GS-mark (in this process these items are categorised as category 2). These articles are not allowed to carry a CE-signet.
